Partners in Music Education

Your expertise and skills as a music teacher are in high demand, and many teachers in our area have waiting lists that require students to register months or even years in advance. Imagine having a teacher who could take the youngest students from your waiting list, give them an excellent base of theory, ear-training, note-reading, singing, and beginning piano playing, then send them back eager and enthusiastic to begin intermediate piano lessons. They will have already developed many important skills and good habits. Best of all, our students LOVE music, and they know how much fun learning it can be! We need outstanding teachers to send them to when they are done with our unique 3-year program. We are confident that our relationship will benefit both Let's Play Music, your private studio, but more importantly the students we share!
